

Catoria Parker writes about diversity in the Fondren Community of Jackson, Mississippi

Anderson Crawley & Burke's Catoria Parker writes blogs as part of "The Clarion-Ledger's community bloggers, known collectively as Jackson Voices." "A project of The Clarion-Ledger and The Maynard Institute, Jackson Voices seeks to put the power of storytelling in the hands of residents with the goal of elevating voices not often heard."

To view her blog on diversity, as well as other blogs she has written, please visit this link: <http://voices.clarionledger.com/cparker/>

